Which categories of personal data do we process?

We collect the name and contact details of our contact persons as well as their company affiliation and their position in the company. Depending on the contractual relationship, we also process information on the area of responsibility of the contact person or appointments.

How long will this data be stored?

The data of our customers and contacts remain stored as long as business relations exist or you express interest in our services. For data in contractual agreements and for billing there are legal storage periods of 6 or 10 years.

For what purposes do we process the data?

We process the data to answer inquiries, to prepare offers, to perform the contracted services and to invoice.

On which legal basis do we process your data?

We collect and store customer data exclusively on the basis of contractual or pre-contractual relationships (Art. 6 GDPR)

Who receives the data?

We do not pass on the customer data collected for our own purposes to third parties.

Is there an obligation to provide the data?

If you do not enter into a contractual relationship with us, there is no obligation on your part to provide us with any data.

Is there automated decision-making or profiling?

Based on your personal data, we do not carry out automated decision-making that has a legal effect on you or that affects you in a similar manner (Art. 22 GDPR).

Your rights as a concerned party

According to Chapter III of the GDPR, you have the right to obtain information about your personal data, the right to correct incorrect data, the right to erase your data or to restrict processing, the right to object to processing, the law data portability and the right of withdrawal of given consent, if granted.

You have the right to complain to the Hessian or other data protection supervisory authority if you believe that our company misappropriately or improperly handles your data.
